Hello everyone,

In my last post I’d shared the videos of the crustacean and its egg which I saw under my foldscope. Here’s another video of further developed egg in which you can see the organism has started showing movements. We can see both of its compound eyes now and also the heartbeats and leg movements.

~Have fun foldscoping.