Curd sample was taken and diluted in sterile water, then filtered using filter paper. From filtered sample serial dilution was done, then from second dilution 10µl of sample was taken on a glass slide and covered with cover slip, then observed under the foldscope.

Long rod lactobacillus cells were found.