

Feathery style, stigma and pollination drop of Lablab

SAMRITI DHAWAN

READ REVIEWS

WRITE A REVIEW

CORRESPONDENCE:
amarpharma07@gmail.com

DATE RECEIVED:
December 06, 2018

© Dhawan This article is distributed under the terms of the Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License, which permits unrestricted use, distribution, and redistribution in any medium, provided that the original author and source are credited.

The pistil of Lablab – the flat bean flower was seen to have feathery style, and a capitate stigma under a foldscope. A pollination drop on stigma was a treat to watch under foldscope.

[gallery ids="94542,94543,94544,94545,94546,94547,94548,94549,94550"]